Your Team Becomes the Game...Literally!

You're in the Game is fast-paced, high-energy fun that turns people into game pieces and game action into live-action, hilarious fun!

With You're in the Game, your team will experience one of the wildest, most energized team building programs we offer. Imagine a giant, colorful game board, large enough to accommodate your entire group. The music starts, the extra-large dice are rolled, and the game begins. Teams work their way around the game board, furiously trying to answer trivia questions and complete wacky "team challenges." Teams earn points for team spirit, creativity, and enthusiasm. Of course, experienced TeamBonding facilitators lead the way, and bring the game to life!

This giant game board can be adjusted to accommodate the size of your group. The game easily adapts to an indoor or outdoor setting. You're in the Game is a great way to end a day of meetings before a send off for dinner and will provide plenty of conversation for cocktail hour!

You're in the Game helps your group soar to new heights of fun, frantic energy! It's a perfect choice to kick off an off-site, celebrate a success, energize a day of meetings, or as a send-off to dinner after meetings. What Game do you want to be in? For example, we offer a number of specific themes, including You're In The Game Of Chocolate and You're In The Game Of Wine. We'll customize any topic you pick. In fact, You're in the Game has a format that allows maximum flexibility and creativity. We can work with you to incorporate company trivia into your game, if appropriate. Or we can provide all the questions and answers. Your choice.
