The Activity: The Golden Idol Scaventure Hunt is a fun team based activity that will send the group scurrying for specific items and clues that will eventually lead them to determine the location of a stolen idol.

Based loosely (with tongue planted firmly in cheek) on the Indiana Jones character, the group will be instructed to undertake an exciting quest of interpreting a series of cryptic clues, locating specific locations and gathering key information. The comedic format is driven by the threatening arrival of arch villain Baron Von Otto Matic who has stolen and hidden a precious antiquity...the golden idol. The location of this idol can only be determined by a group solving the provided clues and then taking the first letter of the answer, item or requested location and then spelling out the idol's hiding place.

The group will be provided with the geographic parameters in which they will be working and a set time frame under which they must conclude their quest. The first team back with the correct location will be announced as the winners. A fitting reward will await them after Indianapolis Jones neatly dispatches Baron Von Otto Matic.

This program is hosted by two professional corporate comedians (playing Indianapolis and the Baron) who also act as facilitators. Their comedic animation and interactive comedy bring the Scaventure Hunt to life.
