

Survey Says ...The Ultimate TV Game Show

Primary Benefits:

- Morale booster
- Teamwork
- Healthy competition
- Painless learning experience

Secondary Benefits:

- Camaraderie
- Communication
- Creativity

The Event: How well do you know your co-workers, company and company culture? You'll have a great time finding out with Survey Says, teambonding's hilarious adaptation of the classic long-running game show. Highly interactive, team-focused, unexpectedly gripping and hysterically funny, match your team's minds to popular opinion in this corporate take on a timeless TV favorite.

Survey Says provides high-energy, wildly interactive team building. It's invariably a unique learning experience for every participant. This event brings huge visual splash to your gathering, as all game show questions are displayed on a projection screen for everyone to see. Your high-energy show comes complete with a dynamic Master of Ceremonies, sound effects, music and animated lock-out boxes – just like the real show.

It all begins when you organize your group into teams (families) of five to 10 contestants. Divide them up by departments, or any other way you like – teambonding is happy to help with this if you choose. Remember, the more diverse your teams, the funnier the guesses – and the greater the benefit in terms of improved relationships.

Game questions can be unique to your organization (ESPN customized all their questions based on an actual company survey), or let us mix company-specific questions with other fun general-knowledge categories. Special highlights include the Buzzer Round, Get Ready to Steal, and the Final Fast Money Round.

Survey Says works extremely well between courses of your company dinner, or as a stand-alone company event.

Minimum/Maximum Group Size: Any number of people can participate, but since the main competition is between only two teams, a series of elimination rounds gets us down to the final pair of teams competing for the championship. Let us know what you're thinking, and we'll suggest the best way to stage the event for your particular group.

Program Length: As always, Teambonding is flexible. Successful events can easily run between one and three hours. If we're integrating Survey Says into a dinner, it makes sense to keep things relatively short. Let us know your group size and other unique requirements, and we'll be happy to suggest how much time you'll want to allot.

Space Requirements: Pretty simple – a room with enough seating for everyone attending, plus a stage or open area large enough to accommodate two teams, our MC and a large projection screen.