Operation Military Care is a program that gives back to our US Armed Forces while helping your team unite in a myriad of fun and productive ways. This impactful program includes fast-paced, competitive and engaging teambuilding activities that lead up to the final challenge – care package assembly for our military heroes!

TeamBonding will coordinate all of the logistics, and provides the materials that go into the care packages. We outfit each care package with approximately 40 of the most requested items of overseas service members, and even supply stationery for your team to personalize the package with a letter. These packages often go directly to soldiers who rarely, or never, receive anything from home. Teams really make a difference by acknowledging their service and providing these special gifts.

Through a set of challenging and collaborative activities the teams, or “squads” are tasked with earning points throughout the program. The points are later cashed in for the materials that go into each of the packages. We also work with your preferences to find the best route for the donation of these care packages. TeamBonding has outstanding relationships with military charities, family service groups and the USO; donating the packages in partnership with these groups ensures that they get to the people who need them the most – our service members overseas! In an inspiring conclusion to this event, we work with the selected beneficiary, to request a representative from their organization arrive onsite, speak about their service, and accept the care packages.

Designed to be both competitive and collaborative, the participants will learn a great deal about each other in this fun and challenging program. But there is only one “winning team” declared in this program – our US Troops!
