- Advances goal mapping

The nation's most prestigious espionage training academy, School for Spies is training the next class of recruits!

Your group is divided into teams representing high-level intelligence organizations from around the world. The Head of the School for Spies briefs your teams on the objective of their mission. Next, each team is armed with a briefing package that includes everything they need to complete their challenges (things too tightly classified to mention here). Participants will break codes, follow clues, retrieve sensitive information and push their mental acuity – and their scruples – to the limit. Teams elect members to undertake certain missions based on personal strengths and skills. Some challenges require stealth and cunning; others call on creativity and imagination.

School for Spies immerses the group into a world of mystery and intrigue for the ultimate TeamBonding event! It is a wildly exciting step away from the day-to-day routine, filled with hilarious surprises. It promotes out-of-the-box thinking and right-brained ingenuity, because, after all, success as a high level international spy demands it!
