Attention all chowder aficionados, you'll love this team building experience! Wherever you're from, we'll engage your inner New Englander and start cooking!

In Chowdah Cook-Off just name your chowder: fish, clam, or corn. We can customize this event and group teams to foster specific interactions or to keep specific departments together, as appropriate. Teams will season, stir, and simmer away to the top prize. And they'll have to work quickly! They're being timed and being judged, so to compete and win, they have to get it together. Teams will have to negotiate and manage time and resources to obtain ingredients to make their chowder. They'll create and concoct their own versions of this New England mainstay, and use their hearts, minds, and their messy hands to develop a chowdahlicious work of art.

Forget about calories, and cholesterol! Each team's goal is to create a rapturous "chowdah" fit for the prestigious title of "Wicked Good." Teams also come up with a name for their chowder, and create an enthusiastic campaign to market their creation to the masses!

The competition will be fierce, but never fear, the judges have a high standard of integrity, and every team comes out a winner! The Chowdah Cook-Off is an unforgettable team-building event!
