TeamBonding Podcast Announces Season 2: Team Building Saves the World

April 2nd, 2021 - TeamBonding Inc. is back for a second season of the podcast series: Team Building Saves the World. Join host Rich Rininsland as he takes you behind the scenes to discuss the road to live events, company culture, and insights from program developers, leaders, and professionals in the team building industry. Rich talks all about this in his Season 2 trailer.

Episodes will cover the behind the scenes of TeamBonding's most popular programs, how their ideas come to life, as well as discussing changes brought on by world events. Listeners will get the inside scoop on how TeamBonding matches activities to groups, how to prepare for upcoming live events, and panel discussions with thought leaders of the team building industry. Season 2 will also look into how and why the concepts of team building are essential in today's world, and check up on some of our most popular guests from last season.

“We’re going to take a behind the scenes look at events from development to sales, production to performance. This season we want YOU to feel like you are a definite part of this team.”

- Rich Rininsland, Host of Team Building Around the World
