Activity Overview

- Faced with a jumble of model components teams must switch into overdrive to assemble a range of 'snap together' concept cars in record time
- Optimising flow is critical to success as teams are challenged to form ultra-efficient assembly lines and shave seconds off successive build times
- The pressure is further intensified with each car having its own specific style and bolt on extras
- Speed is rewarded but small mistakes can see teams slipping down the leader board
- A powerful realisation occurs as the game end focus shifts gear from competition to collaboration
- The goal moves from best individual team times to sharing best practice to achieve the best average group time!

Shift gear from competition to collaboration

The uber cool design and tactile nature of the car models are guaranteed to bring out the inner child in all who take part!
